A Promiscuous Corpse.

A German at Sing Sing Explodes a Can of Nitro-Glycerine with a Pick.

[New York Herald, Jan. 19.]

The village of Sing Sing was thrown into a state of great excitement yesterday noon by an explosion of nitro-glycerine that shook the earth for a mile around like an earthquake, made houses tremble, felled to the ground several persons and horses, stunned a child so that her recovery is doubtful, and blew an unfortunate laborer literally to pieces.

The accident occurred at half-past 12 o'clock, in the yard of Henry Ludwig, on Croton avenue, and in fifteen minutes afterward the neighborhood was alive with an excited crowd, eager to learn the cause of the terrible explosion. A horrifying spectacle was presented. The leafless branches of the trees surrounding the premises were covered with pieces of quivering flesh, the walls of the cottages near by bespattered with blood, and along the snow-covered ground for a distance of a quarter of a mile could be seen portions of a human body. A piece of the skull was found embedded in the framework of a cottage, a foot was discovered in a tree 150 yards distant, a piece of an arm was found on the roof of a dwelling a block away, and a part of the face wrapped in a piece of clothed hair was found on a tree in an orchard 200 feet away. The largest piece of the body found weighed but five pounds. About 100 windows in the Methodist church were broken, as were also several windows on the same avenue.

The only person killed was the unfortunate Ludwig. He was a laborer by occupation, and occasionally did odd jobs at blasting. Eighteen months ago he buried in his yard to the depth of two feet a can of nitro-glycerine, covering it over with a board which he concealed from sight by a few shovelfuls of dirt. The instrument of death lay undisturbed until Monday last, when he unearthed it and chiseled out—the nitro-glycerine being frozen—a small portion which he wished to use in blasting rocks for Henry J. Baker. He then covered it up again as before. On Wednesday he took out another quantity. Yesterday noon he returned from his work and asked his wife to get him a kettleful of hot water, as the ground was frozen and he needed more of the explosive. She procured the water, and he went into the yard and began digging. Within a few minutes the explosion took place.

Coroner Forshey, of Peekskill, arrived on the scene late in the afternoon and impelled a jury. The wife of the deceased and his father-in-law, Jno. Schnortz, testified, and admitted having known that the nitro-glycerine was in the yard. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts and censured those having knowledge of the explosive being within the village limits for not notifying the authorities.

Three pailfuls of the remains of the ill-fated man were picked up by the neighbors, and the search was continued up to dark. The deceased was 35 years of age and a native of Germany. He was generally noted as a sober, industrious man. He leaves a wife and two children.

Writes a Washington correspondent: The average Congressman is wholly wanting in style, but he is quite stunning. Good looks he is never accused of. His hair is scrawny, his cheeks fat, and his squint and a way of settling the corners of his mouth makes him resemble the grimacing satyrs in Gothic architecture. His face is always twisted up in an incomprehensible way, and when he writes, his eyes are just four inches from the point of his pen.

The Russian Minister has the most stunning equipage at Washington. The chief glory of the turnout is the chasseur a magnificent creature, resplendent in gold lace, who rides behind, and when his master has entered a house, stands in his martial helmet with drawn sword before the portals, like the angel of Eden, until his superior reappears. The presence of this gorgeous creature, motionless in a doorway, has often gathered an immense crowd in the streets.

If you lounge down into a rocking-chair and tilt back against the toes of a man with a neat-fitting boot, don't ask him if he's hurt, or say anything else calculated to make him speak. Just let him stand up and smile for a few moments until he gets his voice under control.

Only a few years ago a man used to put the seal of affection on her lips. Now he has to put it on her back, and if it isn't trimmed with other she makes trouble about it. The new style costs more, but it don't compete with the other for real comfort.

The Proposed Compromise.

The country is now engaged in forming an opinion upon the proposed method of counting the Electoral votes. This plan is well known, and consists, in short, of the creation of a tribunal, which shall contain in its members all qualities which are necessary in a just decision of the question. The best legal lights of the Nation will be among its members, as well as the leading statesmen of the day. The bill seems to come in part from a desire to distribute the responsibility of the decision, and in the second place, as a foil to the bitter partisan feeling which exists upon both sides.

It is plain that should a Republican official announce the result, his decision would be regarded as an expression of party desire, rather than a statement of truth. If a Democratic House were to canvass the matter, the same disagreement and endless discussion would follow. The proposed bill attempts, so far as possible to eliminate party matters from the final decision by allowing representative men to proclaim the result.

The question is, it seems, a plain one and no man should fear to trust it who relies upon truth for the strength of his cause. We are presumably naming the best men in our nation and the leading representatives of each party to decide a question upon which hangs the peace and prosperity of national life.

Such men are certainly the men to trust, and granting this, one of two things will ensue. If these men can act, as we believe, like men worthy of liberty and the land which protects them; if they can each and all lay aside petty prejudice and ascend to manly reason; if they can forget party interest, in their search for national truth, their decision will be final and the men who have nursed and defended this Republic will stand by them.

If on the other hand they decide upon desire instead of facts; if they act as partisans instead of statesmen; if they decide upon political creeds instead of looking to the general prosperity of this nation and the popular desire for truth, then their decision will be of no avail for the public will not sustain such an outrage.

Either Hayes or Tilden has been elected and intelligent inquiry will tell which. The result of such inquiry is what the people want to know, and we believe that there are men who have ability and courage to tell the truth. Let these men be named and set to work. They can reckon upon eternal contempt if they trifle with the matter, and they can secure to themselves a nation's gratitude by dealing with facts and proclaiming the truth for it is mighty and will prevail.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Yesterday the House of Representatives discussed the Electoral bill. Speeches were limited to ten minutes. Mills opposed the bill, saying that it was unconstitutional and silenced the pretense that the President of the Senate had the power to count the vote. Lamar said the bill eliminated the sword from the controversy and sent it to a tribunal whose character guaranteed justice, right and truth in its decision. Four o'clock was the time set for moving the previous question.

In referring to the passage of the bill for counting the Electoral vote, Governor Hayes said to a friend several days ago, who makes it public this morning: "I want it distinctly understood that I do not desire to influence the action of Congress one way or the other in the matter of the Electoral bill, or any other matter relating to the Presidential election. The whole thing is in the hands of Congress, and I shall be content with its action."

Judge Settle, of North Carolina, is spoken of for Judge Davis' successor. Ben Hill has been re-elected from Georgia as U. S. Senator.

The House of Representatives of Pennsylvania passed the following resolution: That the vote cast by the authorized Electors for President and Vice President of the United States indicates the election of Rutherford

B. Hayes and William A. Wheeler to those offices respectively, and they of right ought to be inaugurated at the National Capital on the ensuing fourth of March by Constitutional authority.

FOREIGN.

A Berlin date of the 26th says: The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows an increase of 18,780,000 marks.

A Constantinople date of the 26th says: Sir Henry Elliott, British Ambassador left to-day. Baron Van Werther, German Ambassador, and Count Zechy, Austrian Ambassador, will sail on Saturday. General Ignatieff's departure is still retarded by tempestuous weather in the Black Sea.

A Paris date of the 26 says: The following are the details of the proposed Russian memorandum: Russia will remind the European Powers that in consequence of the refusal of Austria France and England to participate in this programme, Russia entered on a more direct individual intervention and the Czar announced his intention to act alone if necessary, to exact and force from Turkey, what Russia knew could not otherwise be obtained. Russia joined the Conference because of the respect for the pacific wishes of Europe, and so to permit the Porte to show to the full extent its ill will, Russia agreed to reduce her demands to a minimum. Henceforth Russia thinks herself entitled to reckon on the continued collective efforts of Europe whose record for common ulterior action has not been destroyed by the conclusion of the Conference. The memorandum concludes by stating that Russia proposes shortly to submit a programme, to which she hopes to obtain the adherence of the Powers.

He married again and the time passed on. They both raised families, she having raised several daughters. Rolly saw her and married her again as the third. He has since married one of the daughters as a fourth, and it is generally believed that he intends to take them one after another as fast as they arrive at a marriageable age."

RELIGIOUS NOTICES.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Services at the Episcopal Church to-morrow morning, and evening as usual. Rev. Wm. Lucas, officiating.

Sunday School immediately after Morning Service.
All are invited.

BAPTIST SERVICES.—Baptist Services will be held at the new Baptist Church to-morrow morning, and evening, at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M. Rev. S. J. Arnold, Pastor.
Sabbath School immediately after morning service.
A general invitation to all.

METHODIST CHURCH.—Services will be held at the M. E. Church, morning and evening, at the usual hours. Rev. T. S. Uren, officiating.
Sunday School at 2 o'clock P. M.
The public are invited.

DISTRICT COURT.—The trial of Thomas Kelley for the killing of Fagan occupied the day in the District Court. The testimony was concluded last night about 8.15, and the opening argument for the prosecution called for. The testimony had been concluded sooner than expected and counsel found himself unprepared, whereupon the Court adjourned until this morning at 9 A. M. District Attorney Cain opened for the prosecution, detailing the evidence, and making an argument one hour and a half in length. He was followed by C. S. Varian for the defense, who consumed the remainder of the morning session. At noon the Court adjourned until 1 P. M., when counsel for defense again addressed the jury in continuance of his argument. The audience was unusually large throughout the day, several ladies attending this afternoon to hear the arguments of counsel. The counsel for the defense was addressing the jury as we went to press, and the case will probably go to the jury to-night. Various opinions are current as to the verdict, none of which would be in place at present.

COMPLAINT.—We hear much complaint of late in regard to the water supply. People want to know why it is not more regular, and why pipes freeze up and burst so often when they were hitherto secure. We have been asked so often about this matter that it is time for us to confess our ignorance. The agent will probably explain matters.

Flynn's condition remains but little changed from what it has been during the past week.

Best Wines and Liquors and Cigars at Coggeshall & Co's.

CON. FOR CREDITORS.—This morning the creditors of the Con. For met, but without transacting any business adjourned to meet again this evening at Judge Haydon's office. They will then adjourn until sometime Monday, as they are waiting for Mr Farnam to arrive from Orona. It has been proposed to the creditors that they receive a bond from the Company in which the management obliges themselves to pay its debts, on consideration that they be allowed to work the mine, say for six months, and after paying one-third of the proceeds to the laborers turn the remainder over to the creditors. By such a plan the Company believe that the mine could be safely run, and the creditors be paid, whereas by closing down now and the Company going into bankruptcy, no one would receive any benefit and the creditors sadly lose. The mine has not been developed yet, but is evidently a good one. What is demanded is money, and without more money than the Company has yet expended the mine will never amount to anything. The Company have been increasing their indebtedness—too small an amount of money invested is really extravagance. By adding a dozen pans and leaching the ore from fifteen tons per day the mine will pay. Before closing down four tons were leached each day. Assessments will not alone supply the necessary money to successfully run this mine because those who have assessments to pay can do so with time checks. There seems but one way to avoid the present difficulty and that is for the mine owners to put up coin, and proceed to business. Otherwise Con. For will probably remain with closed doors.

ACCIDENTS.—One of the brakemen on the lightning train was severely hurt last night in Carson City, while coupling on the sleeper. His injuries are not considered fatal, although he had a narrow escape.

As the same train was backing into the wood yard at Carson, a man was found lying in the yard, who had evidently been thrown from the train, or knocked from the track. He was severely cut, and will probably die. Our informant did not learn names.

LATER.—The brakeman was reported this forenoon in a fair way to recover in a few days. He was commonly called "Sandy" from the color of his hair and whiskers. A few months ago he lost three fingers while coupling cars in the yard at Gold Hill. The "Miller Coupling," such as are in use on the cars which he was coupling last evening, compelled him to stand on the platform of the car. While stooping down to make the connection, he lost his balance, and fell between the coaches. As the cars come very close together his body was placed in a small compass for a minute or more. It was a very close call, for, had he received the force of a full train he would, of course, have lost his life.

Nabob Sauce at Coggeshall & Co's.

SHARPSHOOTING.—Yesterday while General Kittrell was cross-examining a witness for the defense he asked what kind of a pistol the witness alluded to in the testimony.

Witness—"I don't know, but it was a deadly weapon."

Kittrell—"How do you know, Mr. Witness? The Supreme Court of this State has decided that a pistol must be loaded in order to be a deadly weapon."

Counsel for defense—"Witness was not on the bench then, General, or a different decision would have been rendered."

Kittrell—"No, neither was you."

PACIFIC WOOD, LUMBER & FLUME COMPANY.—We copied from the Enterprise a few days since an article upon the business of the above company in which James Mayberry was named as business manager. We thought the statement incorrect at the time and have since learned that Mr. D. H. Jones is sole manager and has absolute control of the entire business, subject only to general instructions from Col. Fair. Mr. Mayberry, however, is a large contractor for the company. Will the Enterprise please correct, also?

English Pickles and Sauces at Coggeshall & Co's.

LODGE MEETING.—The stated communication of Reno Lodge No. 13, F. & A. M., will be held this evening. All members are requested to be in prompt attendance at 7 1/2 P. M., as business of importance is to come before the meeting.

Jottings.

Four feet of the beautiful in Virginia.

Messrs. Ross, Shoemaker and Everett returned from Carson last night on the lightning.

The Silver State is authority for the news of a thermometer freezing up at Humboldt Wells. Wood must be pretty scarce out there if they can't keep a thermometer warm.

"A little hair oil covers a multitude of sins," as the barber said when he shaved a certain livery stable-keeper.

They complain that the sleighing is not good in Virginia.

Cinnabar mines will be worthless if quicksilver continues to fall the way it has during these cold nights.

They don't say "wipe off your chin" now, it's "remove your icicles."

ALL THE FUN.—Small boy—"Gimme three snow balls an I'll fight ye, but no clinchin'." Big boy—"I ain't a scared of yer three snow balls, but clinchin's all the fun."

We noticed Judge C. N. Harris and Gen R. M. Clark in town to-day.

The Board of Trade meet to-night at the Justice's office. The amount for building a bridge across the Truckee river may be determined, and the incorporation business receive further consideration. Look out for jobs or something of that nature, and drag yourself and improved rubbers around to witness the excitement.

Attorney C. S. Varian is addressing the jury as we go to press. He has thus far spoken six hours in defense of his client Kelly. Atty General Kittrell will make the closing speech this evening.

The Methodists will come out soon with an old folks' concert.

The revival meetings are having a good run at the Baptist church.

The Congregationalists come to the front to-morrow with a new pulpit star.

A number of ladies were in attendance at the Kelly trial to-day.

There is balm in Gilead, and English ale at the Wine House.

The Jubilee Singers to-night.

Brown—(Looking at a hoodlum in the Court-room) "Fine shaped head, eh, Smith?" Smith—"Yes, but that's not an eagle eye by any means." It was black.

THE JUBILEE SINGERS.—This famous troupe of colored warblers will appear at the Reno Opera House to-night. The different phases of slave life, as well as the religious fervor of the colored race will be rendered in song, and an evening of pleasure is offered to all. The striking originality of these songs both in verse and melody cannot fail to catch the musical ear, and this intelligent rendering of the slave character is even more powerful in music than in words. One can see "De ole folks at home," and know their joys and sorrows while listening to these musicians who have borne the cross in days gone by. It is from the heart they sing, and 'tis the heart which must hear their low born melodies and translate their experience and pathos. At the Reno Opera House to-night only.

CONGREGATIONAL SERVICES.—Rev. C. H. Pope, of Oakland, and formerly pastor of the Second Congregational Church in that city, will preach to-morrow morning and evening at the Congregational Church in this city. The Reverend gentleman is a man of more than ordinary ability, is a quick, animated speaker and very good looking. His sermons are not long and the collections, taken are not usually large. Hence there is every inducement why Rev. Pope should have a good audience to-morrow.

STATE PRISON BILL.—Senator Westfield yesterday introduced a bill before the Senate "That the people, etc., do appoint a State Prison Building Committee, which shall consist of three citizens of the State, viz: Gov. L. R. Bradley, C. H. Eastman and C. C. Batterman. This committee shall manage and superintend the construction of the State Prison near Reno." The bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and will be reported on early next week.

SUIT COMMENCED.—L. H. Martin has commenced suit against the Nevada Quicksilver Mining Company for wages. The company is entirely solvent and the difficulty arises from the non-payment of the last assessment, which was levied to close up the company's business for the winter.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.—We propose to sell the very best goods to be obtained and at the very lowest cash prices; and as we did not locate in Reno with the idea of making a fortune in a few months and then jump the country, we are willing to "live and let live," and in so doing will endeavor to conform to the custom of all Christian countries and close our place of business on Sundays.

B. S. COGGESHALL,
It (Under Journal Building.)

JUSTICE.—A Chinaman was after Barlow to-day trying to induce him to collect an old account of three dollars. Barlow the stony hearted man refused, whereat the Celestial wondered and felt sad at the corruption which he discovered in public places.

POLICE COURT.—The Police Court was exceedingly dull to-day. Richardson can pore over his legal lore without disturbance. Next week there will be the true business for ye vag.

Two gallons of whiskey were consumed by a colored man before he fully recovered from the bite of a tarantula. It was then discovered that he had been stung by a wasp. The men who contributed the whiskey were too mad to speak above a whisper.—Denver Times.

AGENT.—W. J. Marsh has been authorized by the well known musical firm of Sherman & Hyde, to effect sales for all their instruments on any terms given at their house, including the Weber, Sherman & Hyde and Cottage Gem Pianos, and Standard Organ. He will sell any of these instruments on such easy installments that everybody can buy with a little effort.

A HEBREW MOODY WANTED.—We want to see some Moodyism introduced in the Jewish form of service, some enthusiasm, some life—and congregational singing is a simple and commendable step in the right direction. Camp meetings may be sensational and ephemeral in their hold on sinners, but we have frequently wished that little of their warmth were transferred to our synagogues and temples. If there were less scientific accuracy and more general participation in the singing in our shrines, it would be better for all of us. A hymn set to a simple melody, sung by the entire congregation with all their hearts and all their lungs, is true worship. An orator completes a well rounded period, a singer executes an astonishing trill, a heroic rescue of life before our gaze, and we burst into shouts of applause. In church and synagogue, however, we must be grim and quiet, and fold our hands, and keep our eyes in one position, and mechanically turn the leaves of the book, and merely look at the preacher while he is endeavoring to teach us grand truths, and listen to the choristers while they are acting as our substitutes at the throne of grace; and if any one of us dared to express our thankfulness to God for his greatness, glory and manifold kindness by an old-fashioned, loud "Amen," or even joining with the choir, he would be hustled out of the building amid the indignant scowls of an entire congregation.—Jewish Messenger.

A BOY POSSESSED OF A SINGULAR FEAR.—A lad of about 16 years of age, living on Fountain Hill, was recently seen standing up to his ankles in snow on the hill just above the Union Depot, watching for the arrival of trains on the North Pennsylvania road. The maintenance of his position for a considerable length of time excited the curiosity of our informant who, upon questioning those constantly around the depot, was told that the boy could be frequently seen there, during rain and shine, on the same errand. He has, on several occasions, been seen on the platform of the depot, but is always on the look out, and upon the approach of an engine scampers away to the other side of the station. He is said to be quite intelligent and level-headed with the exception of his strange and fascinating fear of locomotives, which he seems unable to overcome. In summer nearly every afternoon he can be seen under a stump on the hill above the depot, watching for the (to him) iron monster. The lad seems to be conscious that his dread of the locomotive is ridiculous, and he makes every effort to overcome it, but in vain.—Behlehem Times.

Two Frenchmen lately had their duel literally up in a balloon. Principals, seconds and doctors went up on a cloudless day, and at a height of 1,000 feet, blazed away. The gas bag of one balloon was pierced, and the occupants were unceremoniously but not fatally pitched into a stream. And speaking of duels, enterprising western newspapers are already reporting local "affairs of honor." A German newspaper man of St. Paul, Minn., was challenged by a leading citizen outraged by a personal paragraph. The journalist told the authorities, and they warned the parties to drop the business.

In a short time Mr. Holly, the well-known mechanical engineer, will attempt to heat the entire city of Lockport, N. Y., by steam. The city is divided into districts, and each district is to have its separate boiler. Mains from each boiler are run to the different houses, and all the occupants have to do is to turn a faucet and obtain all the heat he wants.
